

About the Instructor

Andrew Pond has been working with computers since the mid 1980's, He earned a bachelor's of science/business administration degree in computer and informational sciences from the University of Florida in 1985 and a Master of Science degree in computers and information systems from NOVA Southeastern University in 2003.

After committing his life to Jesus Christ in 1987, Andrew continued in bible studies at Abbott Loop Bible College in Anchorage, Alaska.

Upon his return to Florida he spent several years working as a programmer analyst for The Miami Herald.

He later moved on to a career in technical education working for the Art Institute of Fort Lauderdale. While there he served as an instructor and chairperson for two departments: Multimedia & Web Design and Information Technology & Design. He also served as faculty development director and academic department director for Computer Science and Math.

His teaching assignments included courses in computer science, programming, web development and computer support and networking.

Andrew and his wife Shelly, continue to home school their three children, ages 9, 12 and 13, which they have done since the beginning. Andrew is a boy scout leader and enjoys coaching flag football.